

Biomaterials Day

Co-organized by the University of Kentucky and Case Western Reserve University

Sponsored by the Society For Biomaterials

“Advances in Bioactive Materials and Interfaces for Therapeutics and Diagnostics”

Friday, September 25, 2009

9 a.m. - 8 p.m.

Lexington Downtown Hotel & Conference Center
Lexington, KY

The scientific program for Biomaterials Day will feature world-renowned investigator James Anderson, M.D., Ph.D., as keynote speaker followed by contributed oral and poster presentations from graduate and undergraduate students.

(Prizes of $175 and $75 will be awarded to students for first and second place, respectively, in oral and poster presentation contests).

Registration is free and includes lunch and refreshments, with a social reception afterwards. You must be pre-registered to attend the function. Register at:

<http://www.engr.uky.edu/research/seminars/biomaterials/index.html>

